The problem

Three walls between companies and AI

Companies want to use AI. Most get stuck in the same three places.

01

Personal data

Will customer and employee data go straight to an overseas AI model?

02

Subscriptions

You pay per seat, every month, in dollars — not for what you actually use.

03

Tool sprawl

A different AI service per team, a different prompt per person — and different results every time.

Featured tools

Drop in your material. Get something usable.

Numbers or dates that are not in your material are never made up — they are marked 'to confirm'.

01

Weekly report

Paste a week of notes; get a bullet-point report ready for your manager or leadership.

Documents

02

Proposal deck

Give it the client and your material; get a PowerPoint deck with speaker notes.

Documents

03

Data report

CSV or Excel in; a Word report and Excel tables out. The system computes every number.

Data analysis

04

Meeting prep brief

Add the other side's materials and your goal; get an agenda, likely questions and a checklist.

Sales

Korean PII guardrail

Personal data is masked before it reaches a model

Every request passes through Korean PII masking.

01

Five types

Resident and alien registration numbers, phone numbers, emails, card and account numbers.

02

One gateway

Web tools, AlmaChat or the API — every route is masked at the same gateway.

03

Tools hold back too

Data report never sends contact or email columns to the AI, and swaps names for pseudonyms.

04

Seoul region

Your data is stored in a database in the Seoul region.

Security and privacy

Where your company's data goes — as it stands today

Item	What it means	Status
PII masking (5 types)	Masked before reaching any AI company; if masking fails, nothing is sent.	Live
Stored in Seoul	Logs, settings and files in a Seoul database; the AI relay keeps no bodies.	Live
No model training	Confirmed in the API terms of all 8 providers (OpenAI, Anthropic, Google…).	Live
Assistant is the employee's	Only the employee sees its memory; companies agree not to monitor staff with it.	Live
DPA	Standard terms: 30 days' notice of sub-processors, incidents within 72 hours.	In legal review
ISMS-P · Korean-only	No certification yet. A Korean-models-only option is planned for H1 2027.	Planned

Ways in

Three ways to the tools: web console, AlmaChat, API

Tools in the web console, AI agents in AlmaChat, and the same gateway through the API.

Developer API

An OpenAI-compatible developer API

The same gateway, OpenAI-compatible — swap the base URL and key, keep the SDK you already use.

- Claude, GPT, Gemini, DeepSeek and more behind one spec
- The same PII masking and KRW credits as the tools
- Usage and cost per key, right in the console
